An HVA is a local risk assessment where risk is ranked relative to local priorities and perspectives.

Considerations:

- Hazard history, frequency, duration, extent, severity.
- Vulnerable Populations/ Buildings/ Assets/ Infrastructure

Statewide Landslide Information Database for Oregon (SLIDO)

Oregon Department of Geology and Mineral Industries

This is a general compilation of the State of Oregon natural and cultural resources information about their natural or historical performance or of our associated map products. Please be patient.

What is the Statewide Landslide Information Database for Oregon?
SLIDO is a compilation of landslides in Oregon that have been identified as published maps. The database contains only landslides that have been located on other maps. Many landslides have not yet been located or are not in a state that can be located on a map. The database contains only landslides that have been located on other maps. The database map shows the locations of landslides, their size, and other attributes related to landslides in Oregon. The original studies were written in both paper and digital, which is reflected in a wide range of the accuracy, date, and completeness with which the landslides are mapped.

How do I use the Statewide Landslide Information Database?
Look for landslide susceptibility information for your neighborhood.
When opening the map, use the "home address" field at the top left of the map to enter your location.
Find address

What do I need to use the map viewer?
The map works in modern browsers and on mobile devices as well as desktop computers. If the map does not open by itself or does not contain the latest data, please check your browser's cache.
SLIDO data are available as downloads or as web services. SLIDO Data

Oregon SLIDO <https://www.oregongeology.org/slido/> maps show landslide susceptibility, historic locations, and geologic features like scarps.
